My dear Mr Faxon: -

Your note on S. Westwood can not be improved by any "polishing" of mine - I have simply transcribed it verbatim et literatim - Please read the enclosed MS. critically - and if you find in it anything of course greater than needs correction
- return it to me - if not, send it to Dr. Boutwell - This ends the series of notes on the White Mtn Hillous - for the writing of which I find my only excuse in a desire to give wider circulation to your interesting field-notes

Mr Deane told me last fall that he had been very much interested in a collection of Asters made by Juncy. This is a genus which I have always delighted to potter over in a purely dilettante way - and if I collect anything this summer it is likely to be Asters.
-What a time our older botanists are going to have in learning to transpose familiar names.
-Learning new ones is nothing to it!

"Agreed to translate 88 pages of German MS"! I should say that was "a job" scarce enough -

Yours as ever
Chas. S. Debb
